Villa de Vida Services

Executive Director Hunter Christian announced this summer that Villa de Vida has begun the organization of services being offered in the community. "We are now focusing on how we are going to provide the glue that makes our community stick together. What we are going to do differently and how we will stand out. We hope that Villa de Vida will be more than just an apartment complex. What we envision is this building being the hub of a larger community. Our goal is to hire a credentialed specialist to begin the process of connecting our potential residents to activities, creating meaningful days and to continue teaching the skills that they may have learned in transition programs such as ABRAXAS. We will not be competing with current programs but offering educational enrichment classes and experiences designed to improve independence, safety and socialization." Villa de Vida aims to begin the process by Spring 2019.
